Airbus Helicopters and Falcon Aviation have signed a letter of intent for a VIP version of the H160 in a private ceremony at Ebace.
"The H160 is a natural choice as it embodies our company' standards of high quality, safety and innovation" said Capt. Raman Oberoi, COO of Falcon Aviation. "The H160 is to set new standards for VIP travelling and we look forward to offering this exclusive aircraft to our loyal customers" he added.
"We are proud that Falcon Aviation has chosen to be among the first customers of the H160, and I want to thank Falcon Aviation personally for putting trust into our latest product" said Guillaume Faury, Airbus Helicopters CEO. "With the H160, our goal is to set the benchmark in a variety of mission segments, including Private & Business Aviation. The market response to the aircraft has been very positive so far and we will be up to our customers' expectations."
The H160 offers an ultimate VIP experience with its sleek lines and an interior design, unveiled at Ebace yesterday, that highlights the passenger comfort provided by the low sound levels, excellent visibility with its panoramic windows and excellent stability in flight.
